Project Description

Research conferences, workshops, and related events in the Middle East and North Africa concerning: democracy and governance; peace and security; water, climate, and environment; gender and youth; economic growth; scientific cooperation; education; and health.

Research foundations and corporations in the Middle East and North Africa doing interest corporate social responsibility work, seeking to expand their supply chains, etc., as they relate to the sectors referenced above.

In both instances, identify potential opportunities for USAID to engage in events to expand its contact base and identify potential partners for shared programming.

Provide research support for other subjects on an ad hoc basis.
